Cream Production Holding Up Well

That Didsbury district is still keeping up its reputation as a mixed farming community, evidenced in the way that cream receipts are holding up this year.

The local creamery has an increase in production of 40% over last year at this time, owing, no doubt, to the low price of grain and other farm products.

The cream-check is a cash proposition, and the farmer who milks steadily, all the year round, is always ahead of the doubtful grain situation, and sure of a steady income. We have a real dairying district here, and the quality of the cream produced is second to none in the province. The creamery is helping in every way to promote better dairying, and the grades for the year's butter-make are around the top mark.

The Crystal Creamery held top place for Company Branches during 1928; second in 1929, and pretty well up, so far, this year. This is on account of the quality of the cream, and speaks well for the co-operation of the farmers here.

Mr. Wordie says the best way to keep this reputation, is for farmers to bring in their cream at regular periods, at least, twice a week during the winter months. He also states that the Crystal Creamery has paid, according to quality, as much, or more, than any other creamery along the line.

New Hockey League Will Be Formed

Didsbury Hockey Club has been successful in its efforts to form a league, and fans are likely to be treated to a real brand of hockey this winter.

Together with Didsbury and Innisfail, three Calgary teams have joined the league. All the games between the Didsbury and Calgary teams will be played on the Didsbury rink, and home and away games will be played with Innisfail. This will assure Didsbury of at least seven league games at home on the first schedule.

Hail Losses Paid Exceed Premiums

The final report from the Hail Insurance Board, this week, is given by the secretaries of the local municipalities.

The losses in Mountain View Municipality were considerable, and the report shows that more than twice as much was paid out in losses than was taken in by the current year's hail tax.

While there was a large number of claims from the Didsbury district, the amount of the losses paid was comparatively small, the greater part of the losses being east of Olds.

The following is a summary for Mountain View Municipality:

Total Number Insured.....155
Claims Paid.....106
Number of Acres Insured..13,031
Amount of Losses Paid..63417.34
Current Hail Tax, 1930..31684.80

The hail damage in Westerdale Municipality was not as large as that of Mountain View, but the amount of damage awarded also exceeded the current hail tax.

Total number Insured.....93
Claims Paid.....66
Number of Acres Insured..12,661
Amount of Losses Paid..20,932.30
Current Hail Tax.....17,014.50

Rosebud Flour Mill Works Day and Night

The Rosebud Flour Mill is enjoying unusual prosperity this fall. The mill has been in operation day and night for the last three weeks, and at that, is barely able to meet the demands that are being made on it.

Farmers are bringing in their wheat from all over the district, some coming a distance of fifty and sixty miles away.

The line-up of teams and trucks at the mill is a sight that has not been seen here for many years, and it is not unusual to meet a man in the line-up, either from Cochrane in the west to Innisfail in the north, Airdrie to the south and Allingham to the east.

The low price of grain has made the farmers realize the advantage of having their wheat milled into flour and other products, many of them stocking up for a long period.

Besides flour, the mill is producing wheatlets, pancake flour, rye flour, Graham flour, whole-wheat flour and porridge meal.

The mill is making a specialty of pancake flour, having a good local bulk demand, and enjoying a large package trade. This pancake flour is being sold in all the stores in Calgary, Edmonton, Winnipeg, Saskatoon, and Vancouver, as well as in all the smaller towns throughout the four western provinces.

Britain and a Wheat Preference

Whatever hopes may have been entertained by a considerable section of the Canadian people, our Western farmers in particular, that, as a result of the Imperial Economic Conference, the British Government would grant a preference to the wheat of the Dominions through the imposition of a Customs tariff on all foreign-grown wheat, have gone a glimmering with the definite announcement of Premier Ramsay MacDonald that the British Government will not take this action because it cannot be done.

The British Government is extremely anxious to help out the food producers of the Dominions. It is most desirous of promoting and developing Empire trade. It is willing to do everything it can, but it will not place a Customs tariff on the food of its own people because it cannot do so. As an alternative it is giving serious consideration to bulk purchasing of wheat by the Government with a view through such bulk purchasing to giving a preference to Empire-grown wheat.

Undoubtedly there will be regret and disappointment in this country over Britain's decision. It is to be hoped such feelings will not be allowed to develop into anything approaching bitterness or antagonism towards the Old Country. Canadians generally should strive to understand and appreciate the British position. They should realize the facts of the situation.

In Great Britain this is not a political issue in a partisan sense. Liberals, Conservatives and Labour are all of one mind that, whatever preferential policies may be evolved at this time, they cannot include taxation of food supplies. Mr. Baldwin, who is more favorably disposed towards adoption of a policy of tariffs than either Ramsay MacDonald or Lloyd George, nevertheless made it clear that he did not include tariffs on wheat and other food supplies and raw materials in his programme.

Here is the situation. Great Britain is a country small in area but with a large population. It raises only a small fraction of the food its people require. It is a highly industrialized country, yet the variety of its natural raw products for purposes of manufacturing industry is small and strictly limited. It scours the world for food supplies and raw products in order that it may exist. In order to pay for such food supplies and raw materials it must sell its manufactured goods abroad. Taxing its food and raw materials would so increase costs of production that it could not compete with other nations engaged in manufacturing but which likewise possess large food producing areas and needed raw materials, as, for example, United States, Canada, Germany.

Now consider Britain's trade position with two countries, Canada and Argentina, by way of illustrating the position of the Old Country. Both countries have large surpluses of wheat for export; both are anxious to sell in the British market. Britain has two main articles she is anxious to export in large quantities—manufactured goods of all kinds and coal. The Argentine lacks coal, and is prepared to purchase it from Britain in exchange for wheat. Canada, on the other hand, is rich in coal deposits and is averse to large importations of coal from Britain entering into competition with Canadian miners. The Argentine is not a large manufacturing nation, and is prepared to purchase extensively in Britain, selling her wheat and meat products in exchange. Canada, on the other hand, is a manufacturing as well as an agricultural country. Its production of manufactured goods per head of population is one of the highest in the world. Canada is capable of manufacturing not only all the steel, textiles, boots and shoes, paper, automobiles, and a multitude of other articles required by her own people, but enjoys a large export trade in manufactures of all kinds. Canada, therefore, taken as a whole, is not anxious to take manufactured goods from Britain in exchange for wheat, meats, and various raw materials.

Therefore, notwithstanding a sentimental desire to favor Canada as a sister nation of the Empire, Britain simply cannot afford to impose a tariff against the Argentine and jeopardize her profitable trade with, and her huge investments in, that country. As Premier Ramsay MacDonald has stated: "We cannot do it."

The Americans, North and South, are food-exporting countries, with wheat the big item; so, too, is Australia, New Zealand, India, and so has Russia been in the past and will be in the future. China and Japan need food, but the economic position of vast millions of their people is not such as to enable them to buy high priced wheat. The wheat exporting countries must, therefore, look to Europe. But Europe, impoverished by war, with unemployment rife, burdened with enormous debt, no longer possesses the purchasing power to buy high priced imported food products. Her people are being forced to raise more grain for themselves, or go without. Their Governments are making them do so as a national necessity to prevent the exportation of money abroad which the nations must retain at home.

In the circumstances, what is Britain to do? Further restrict the markets for her manufactured goods by imposing tariffs against those countries which are prepared to buy from her in exchange for the sale of food products and raw materials, thus intensifying her own unemployment problem and at the same time increasing the cost of food to her people and of needed raw materials for her industries?

The British Labour Government says "it cannot be done;" the British Liberal party says "it cannot be done;" the British Conservative party, while favoring tariffs to "safeguard" Britain's industries, says in regard to food and raw materials "it cannot be done." It is, we repeat, not a political question in a party sense in Great Britain; it is an economic question.

And in Canada, whatever our sentiments, desires, interests, or political views and opinions may be, it is just and right that we should at least look at and appreciate the British point of view.

More Cigarettes Used

Report Shows People In United States Consuming More

The people of the United States are smoking more and more cigarettes. Last year they consumed about 1,000 per man, woman and child, but the reports for the first eight months of this year show an excess over those of the same period for last year of 200,000,000. Benjamin D. Hill, chief of the tobacco division of the Department of Commerce, assumes that the increase will continue until the end of the year.

In times of business depression or periods of great stress, it has been the experience of the tobacco industry, that consumption of cigarettes increases.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and mal-nutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

Wild Life Valuable

Canada realizes quite a revenue each year from its wild life. According to Dr. H. F. Lewis, of the Department of the Interior, this wild life has a capital valuation of one billion dollars, and a yearly business turnover of about $45,000,000. This valuation includes the fur harvest, game fish, and their influence on sales of sports goods.

Advancement Made In Canada For Providing Indian Population With High Standard of Education

(By Russell T. Ferrier, Superintendent Of Indian Education).

Great advancement has been made in Canada, particularly of late years, in providing our Indian population with a high standard of educational and vocational training. Through the aid of increased appropriations by Parliament during that time, the Department of Indian Affairs has been enabled to enlarge existing buildings, and construct more modern and fire-proof schools whilst higher salaries and grants have attracted better qualified teachers and instructors.

There are now 78 residential schools and 272 day schools, making a total of 350 centres of Indian educational activity. The total number of pupils is now 15,743, the average attendance being 11,579, constituting an increase during the past ten years of 28 per cent, in enrolment, and 48 per cent, in attendance, ample evidence of the success of the work in preparing Indian children to become independent and self-supporting citizens of the Dominion.

The residential schools are conducted by the Anglican, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, and United churches, and high tribute must be paid to the zeal and self-sacrifice of those engaged in the work. The Department has had the close co-operation of religious denominations in the education of the Indians, and this well-established policy has demonstrated beyond all question of doubt the effectiveness of the system.

The formal opening of the modern residential school at Brandon, Manitoba, on July 18, 1930, adds another unit to the fine system of Indian educational institutions throughout the Dominion. It will be administered by the United Church of Canada and will have as its principal the Reverend J. A. Doyle, D.D., who succeeds the veteran educationist the Reverend Thompson Ferrier.

This school, which replaces the residential school built on the same site in 1894, is one of the finest of its kind in Canada. Built of tapestry brick with trim of Manitoba limestone, and terrazzo floors, it is fire-proof throughout. Some idea of the accommodation afforded may be gleaned from the fact that it has a fine large assembly hall, four dormitories, four class-rooms, a large study room, recreation rooms for both girls and boys, sewing room, sunroom, hospital ward with nurses' quarters, also a laundry equipped with the most modern hygienic appliances.

Adjacent to the school are a number of first-class farm buildings, one of which, the cow-barn, is one of the finest in Manitoba. There are, also, four residences for the use of the principal and married members of the staff.

The institution has a landscape setting, which places it on a par with some of the finest schools and colleges of the older provinces.

This school draws its pupils from a wide radius, owing to the scattered location of the reserves. Residential schools are required because many of the Indians are engaged in occupations such as lumbering, fishing, freighting, and trapping, which take them away from their homes; and even the farms of those engaged in agriculture are not in solid blocks, as in white settlements, but are strung out along rivers and lakes, thus making it impossible to provide day-school accommodation for the major portion of them.

The curriculum provides academic instruction equivalent to the second year in high school. In addition the girls are given a thorough training in domestic science, and the boys, a course in agriculture, together with elementary training in carpentry, blacksmithing and the operation of internal combustion engines, sufficient to enable them to apply it in a practical manner in modern farm life.

While every possible effort is made to impart a sound academic and industrial education, special attention is given to the health of the pupils. During the years spent in the residential schools medical treatment is provided, which, with a balanced diet, and supervised recreation, assists in the building up of a robust constitution.

Under the care and tutelage of the Department of Indian Affairs the prairie Indian has now become a successful agriculturist. The official records for 1928 show that 65,104 acres, in the Prairie Provinces alone, were sown to grain, from which were garnered 65,104 bushels. In addition, 971 acres were planted to root crops from which 61,448 bushels were harvested; and 87,766 tons of hay and other fodder were produced.

Screening Feeds Officially Graded

Low Prices Should Make Them Profitable For the Farmer

Canadian farmers will be particularly interested in the following statement issued by the seed branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture:

Screenings shipped for feed from terminal elevators are now being sold under grade certificates, under the new grade standards and designations provided by the Canada Grain Act or regulations thereunder.

Standard re-cleaned screenings, consisting essentially of broken wheat and wild buckwheat, are now designated "No. 1 Feed Screenings."

A second quality of these screenings which, in addition to the wheat and wild buckwheat, may carry appreciable quantities of wild oats and coarse grains, is designated "No. 2 Feed Screenings." This grade also allows a slightly greater tolerance of ball mustard than No. 1 grade, and would be specially serviceable for feeding sheep.

The product formerly known as "Oat Scalpings" and consisting mainly of wild oats, but with small percentages of domestic oats and barley, is now designated "Mixed Feed Oats."

Terminal elevators, needed for the storage of wheat, are carrying substantial quantities of these grain by-products which are, in consequence, being offered at much lower than the usual prices. Mixtures of barley and wild oats, finely ground, are available at 89 cents per cwt. sacks included, delivered at Montreal, Sorel and Quebec.

Any danger from the presence of weed seeds in these nutritious grain by-products would be corrected reasonably well by fine grinding with high power hammer grinders, and this fact, together with the low prices at which they are now available should render them profitable to the Canadian feeder, even at the present low prices for animal products.

Campaign In Quebec For Securing Greater Yields

A soil improvement train has just completed its three weeks' itinerary through southeastern Quebec, having started at Coaticook on September 15th and finished at Vercheres on October 4th.

The train was organized by the Quebec Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Agricultural Colleges in the province, the seed branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, and the C.N.R., and was part of a campaign now under way in Quebec for securing greater yields from a more intelligent and more general use of agricultural lime and commercial fertilizers.

Of the four coaches which made up the train, the first was used as a laboratory where samples of soil, brought in by visiting farmers, were tested for acidity, and recommendations given as to the approximate quantities of lime required according to the results of the acidity tests.

The second car was devoted to demonstrating the advantages from the proper use of agricultural lime; the third, those of commercial fertilizers, while the fourth was the lecture car in which lectures were given by the officials in charge on the use of agricultural lime and commercial fertilizers.

Upwards of 10,000 farmers visited the train in the course of its tour and about 5,000 soil samples were tested.

Glasgow Port Opened For Cattle Shipments

Rate Is $15.00 Per Head From Canadian Atlantic Ports

Two important developments in the cattle export trade occurred when Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, announced that the steamship companies had agreed to open a service from Canadian Atlantic ports to Glasgow at a rate of $15 per head.

Heretofore, the cattle boats have gone to Liverpool. Mr. Weir has got the shipping companies to fall into line on ocean rates, at a level of $15 per head. One of them had been charging $20.

He regards the opening of the Glasgow port, centre of a large feeding area, as of importance. The Scottish cattlemen, he said recently, are more interested in buying feeder stock, while the Liverpool trade desires fat cattle ready for killing.

The report covered the records of 500 prisoners, released between 1911 and 1922.

PAST WHEAT PRICESLean and Fat Years Have Prevailed
Since Joseph's Day

Wheat is the lowest in price in 24 years and the farmers, the grain trade and business interests are wondering how long it will drop before it swings upward.

In 1909 Winnipeg wheat dropped to 78¢ cents, but it went lower in 1906. The records show that in 1896 wheat was quoted in Chicago at 48 cents a bushel, and in 1860, the year of the Civil War, it was 54 cents.

George Green, a Southern Alberta buyer, recalls that when he first started to buy wheat in Southern Alberta, back in 1902, No. 1 Northern fetched 65 cents a bushel, and he added that he had never seen it lower. Wagon load wheat sold recently here at 48 cents.

Wheat growers have had their fat years as well as their lean years, the records reveal. In 1917 wheat soared to $3.05 a bushel, while Chicago quotations climbed to $3.50 a bushel during 1919. These, of course, were war years. Since the war the high was reached in 1924 when wheat hit $2.24. The high last year was $1.73.

The quickest way to sell Canada to the world is to sell Canada to Canadians. When people in this country give the matter consideration, they know that their best chance of advancement lies in Canada, and that here they prefer to live. That being the case, it only remains for them to become more consciously Canadian. They must demand Canadian made goods. They must buy from those who buy from them, keeping up inter-provincial trade, increasing the buying power, not of foreign lands, but of people in their own country.

The governments have set an aggressive policy in action by undertaking big municipal works as temporary relief from past depression. All citizens should fall in line, thinking Canada and acting for Canada more consciously than ever before.

We have people, land and materials in such abundance that they tend to overlap. Co-operation throughout the country will start the ball rolling. Investment in Canadian stock and Canadian industries will help.

A creation of confidence in Canada will mean a flow of money into our developments—not only money from our own investors, but from people of the outside world.

At Christmas Time . . .

And as long as Mother asked me what I wanted

I can plug in whenever there are guests....It's no trick at all to make waffles with one.

Must remember to throw out a few discreet hints to Bob about one of those new automatic Electric Toasters with heat control. Mother says they're a joy. I've really been wanting one ever since I discovered they cost so little.

While I'm about it I'll call the Calgary Power representative myself and get one of those new type Electric Heaters....they're just the thing to warm the room when baby's having his bath....so clean and safe.

And come to think of it, I might as well get some of my Christmas shopping done with the Calgary Power Company. People are always pleased with Electrical Gifts.

HEADACHES

Ended by Kruschen

"I was a martyr to headaches, with frequent attacks of dizziness affecting my vision. My occupation is a very sedentary one—a printer's reader. I gave Kruschen Salts a good trial, and from then onwards I seemed quite another person. The headaches disappeared and the dizziness, and the most wonderful thing to me is that I have gone back to weaker glasses, a lens which I had discarded some years ago as not being strong enough. I also suffered from bad circulation during the early mornings of winter. Now at 58 I can enjoy cold baths all the year round, and am what I consider very fit—the sort of fitness that makes living a joy."—(G. F.)

Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach or to partial constipation—a complaint many indoor workers suffer from without ever suspecting it.

Kruschen Salts go right down to the root of the trouble and remove the cause by gently persuading the organs of elimination to function exactly as Nature intended they should.

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

A flight from Montreal to Paris in the spring of 1931 is the hope of Rudolph Page, French-Canadian private and commercial pilot of Montreal.

The end of the present season will find the air operations department of the Ontario forestry branch with a new record of over 14,000 hours flown during the year.

Edmund A. Gullion, 17-year-old American youth, won the fifth International Oratorical contest held at Washington. Paul Leduc, 17-year-old French-Canadian, was second. Youths of eight nations completed.

General V. I. Karpoff, one time commander of the Chinese military forces at Tientsin, under the late Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, has abandoned his military career to become a monk.

W. B. Lambie, the British Government's assistant deputy trade commissioner in New Zealand, has been transferred to Canada, and will take up his duties in Winnipeg in December.

Empire delegates to the Imperial conference saw 37 different types of British aircraft in action at Croydon Airport, England. Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald witnessed the air performance, executed in honor of the overseas visitors.

Question of more severe penalties for the adulteration of butter is under the consideration of Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture. A request for such action was recently made to Major Weir by the Montreal Produce Association.

An Oil For All Men.—The sailor, the soldier, the fisherman, the lumberman, the out-door laborer and all who are exposed to injury and the elements will find in Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil a true and faithful friend. To ease pain, relieve colds, dress wounds, subdue lumbago and overcome rheumatism, it is excellent. Therefore, it should have a place in all home medicines and be amongst those taken on a journey.

Keeping Down Weeds

Good Work Carried On In Alberta This Year In Connection With Weed Eradication

Good work was done in Alberta this year in the keeping of soil free from weeds, it was reported at a meeting of the advisory weed board at the Parliament Buildings at Edmonton. The activities of sixteen supervisors were reviewed under the direction of E. L. Gray, field crops commissioner. Recommendations from the board will go to the Department of Agriculture as to next year's work, for which some important undertakings will be suggested.

Has Faith In Sub Trip

Stefansson Believes Wilkins' Voyage To Pole Will Be A Success

Vilhjalmur Stefansson, who has spent most of his life in the Arctic circles, is firmly convinced that Sir Hubert Wilkins' voyage to the North Pole in a submarine will be a success. Sir Hubert was second in command during Stefansson's 1913-1916 Arctic expedition.

"If I were an insurance agency," he said, "and were to write a policy on Wilkins and his party, I would insure them for less in a submarine trip than I would in a polar flight in an airplane."

"The reason I believe the experiment will work out is that there are no icebergs within 400 miles of the North Pole. There are ice floes, but those floes are of no great depth and a submarine might easily pass under them."

"Many people think the Arctic seas are infested with icebergs. This is not the case. If it were true, then such an undertaking as Wilkins suggests would be impracticable, for icebergs have a depth of a thousand feet or more."

Crying Babies Are Sickly Babies

The well child does not cry. He is laughing and happy all the time. Baby's cry of distress is the only means he has of telling the mother or nurse he is ill. Mothers, you can keep your little ones well and happy by giving them Baby's Own Tablets—the safe and efficient remedy for all childhood ailments.

Baby's Own Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative. They sweeten the stomach; regulate the bowels and thus banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and allay the irritation accompanying the cutting of teeth. They are sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Purebred Bull Purchase Act

Alberta Farmers Are Taking Advantage Of Provisions Of New Enactment

Farmers of Alberta in considerable numbers are taking advantage of the provision of the Purebred Bull Purchase Act passed at the last session of the Legislature. An unusual feature of the situation, it is pointed out, was the fact that many applicants sought Red Polled bulls, which had not been much in demand in the past. Dairy Shorthorn bulls were also in demand. It is considered that the present movement is a good sign, indicating a return to diversified farming.

Caramel Pudding

One of the most delicious desserts one can serve, and it is one especially loved by children, can be said practically to make itself. It is called Caramel Pudding. Here it is:

"Place an unopened can of Borden's Eagle Brand Condensed Milk in a kettle of boiling water and simmer for two and a half hours, being careful not to let the kettle boil dry. Remove can, cool and chill. Remove top of can, cutting along the side of can—not the top—so that the contents may be removed whole; place on a serving dish and garnish with broken nut meats and whipped cream. To serve individually, cut in slices, garnish with nut meats, and whipped cream—or use plain unsweetened cream, with or without garnish."

Didn't Want That Kind

Agent (to actor): Then we'll consider that settled.

Actor: But—er—what about the contract?

Agent: Oh, that's all right. A verbal contract'll do.

Actor: Laddie, listen. The last time I had a verbal contract I drew a verbal salary!

Tenth Anniversary Of Radio Broadcasting

Although Opportunities Were Restricted Development Has Been Rapid

The tenth anniversary of radio broadcasting, which gave the industry its greatest impetus, was celebrated a few weeks ago. The first program went on the air from a Pittsburgh station in 1920, and some weeks later this same station introduced radio to politics by broadcasting returns of the Harding-Cox election. Crystal-detector sets were then the last word in reception, and it was necessary for members of the family to take turns at wearing the earphones. Restricted as were its opportunities, however, broadcasting developed so rapidly that within a few years the air was overcrowded and the Government was seeking some form of regulation.

The substitution of electrified vacuum-tube sets for those with crystal detectors and the replacement of earphones with loud speakers, together with other improvements, greatly increased the range and quality of reception. Television today is scarcely more of a novelty than broadcasting was in 1920.

These developments have created great industries.

WHY SUFFER FROM YOUR LIVER?

Why be handicapped with unsightly blotches on the face, eyes with yellow tinge and that tired and languid feeling? This indicates a torpid liver.

Headache, Dizziness and Biliousness surely follow. You must stimulate your lazy liver, start the bile flowing with Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They also act as a mild laxative, purely vegetable, free from calomel and poisonous drugs, small, easy to swallow, and not habit forming. They are not a purgative that cramps or pains, unpleasant after effect following, on the contrary a good tonic. All Druggists 25c and 75c red pkgs.

The first compound steam engine was invented in Canada by Benjamin Tibbits, who used it in the steamship "Reindeer" which he designed and built at St. John, N.B. This invention, by reducing the amount of fuel required, revolutionized marine transportation.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cobourg, Ontario—"Years ago when I had a sick father and a nursing baby to care for, I got all run down and I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to get strength to do my work. Another time at Change of Life, I had severe headaches and felt tired all the time. I took seven bottles of the Vegetable Compound and felt like a new woman. I recommend it to any woman who is at the age when she needs building up."

Is Christian Convert

President Chiang Kai Shek Of China Embraces Christianity

President Chiang Kai Shek of China has been converted to Christianity.

Appearing unexpectedly in Shanghai, the generalissimo went to the home of his mother-in-law, Madame K. T. Soong, and was baptized into the Christian Faith by sprinkling, according to the rites of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

The ceremony was performed by a Chinese pastor, Rev. Z. T. Kuang, a graduate of the Southern Methodist Episcopal Mission University at Soochow. The mission's headquarters is at Nashville, Tenn. Chiang explained his action in these words:

"I feel the need of a God such as Jesus Christ."

The president's conversion was a distinct surprise to Shanghai. Only a few intimate, mostly relatives, attended the ceremonies after the chief executive came from the capital of Nanking.

Christian circles heralded the baptism with great joy and said it struck a blow at Communism. Communists have been directing attacks at foreigners recently and particularly at Christianity as being representative of foreignism.

Pastor Kuang said he did not expect Chiang to take an active part in church affairs, as he is too busy with government duties, but "He and the spirit of Jesus Christ within him will go marching on."

The president's conversion is believed due to influence of Christian relatives. His wife, the former Meiling Soong, and Madame Soong, her mother, have been devout Christians for years, as have other members of the Soong family.

The late Dr. Sun Yat-Sen was a Christian. Another famous general, who once espoused Christianity was Fen Yu-Hsiang. He was known as "the Christian general" and had his entire army baptized. Later he is said to have renounced his faith under the influence of Bolshevism.

An instance of Chiang Kai Shek's pre-conversion partially to Christianity was seen in 1925, when a dentist at the Yale-in-China Mission at Changsha extracted an aching tooth for the general. He was so grateful that when his armies later surged through the country he ordered the Yale building spared.

Another associate of Chiang's who is an outstanding Christian is H. H. Kung, Minister of Commerce and Labor. He is a descendant of the Confucius.

Before conversion Chiang had no formal religion.

Raising Status Of Agriculture

Saskatoon Promises To Develop As Chief Stock Market Of Saskatchewan

"The scientific feeding and fattening of livestock and approved methods of crop rotation, are producing a higher standard of cattle and grain in Central Saskatchewan," says "The Hub." "Favored by location, transportation facilities and improved highways, Saskatoon has become a leading livestock market. The Union Stockyards are handling cattle, horses, sheep and hogs on a large scale—to such an extent, in fact, that Saskatoon promises to develop as the chief stock market of the province."

Alberta Sugar Factory

The refinery of the Canadian Sugar Factories Limited at Raymond, Alberta, will likely be kept working up to the end of January, the crop of beets having been heavy this year—in the neighborhood of 11,000 tons. Slicing of beets began September 25th last.

Persian Balm quickly relieves chapping, windburn and all roughness caused by weather conditions. Keeps the complexion clear and lovely. Completely absorbed by gentle rubbing. Never leaves undesirable stickiness. Stimulates the skin. Makes it soft, smooth and flawless. Preserves and enhances natural beauty. Soothes, refreshes and invigorates. Makes hands soft flawlessly white. Imparts that subtle charm so essential to true elegance.

Gem Will Be Priceless
A ruby said to be a wonderful gem weighing about 100 carats has been found in Mogok, upper Burma. Great secrecy is being maintained about the discovery but it is said the ruby is flawless and of excellent color. If this is the case it will rank among the world's most priceless gems.

Dread Of Asthma makes countless thousands miserable. Night after night the attacks return and even when brief respite is given the mind is still in torment from continual anticipation. Dr. J. D. Relief comes, and at once, while future attacks are ward off, leaving the afflicted one in a state of peace and happiness he once believed he could never enjoy. Inexpensive and sold almost everywhere.

Restless CHILDREN

CHILDREN will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always Castoria Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper: mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than a more powerful medicine.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is need. In cases of colic, diarrhea or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. A coated tongue calls for just a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed.

"But—that's it," she said with sudden courage. "Did you hear what that dear old man said to me to-night? He said: 'Give him plenty of rope to run on.' And you'd be freer without me, Nick, on this wonderful trip—a thousand times freer. You've given me the happiest week of my whole life. Only—I should want you to come back to me again."

Nick looked at her. The moon was so bright that he saw distinctly the sweet curve of her lips, and the soft, dark hair above her brow. Something in her nearness made him curiously inarticulate, and she misconstrued his silence.

"I could go back," she hesitated, "and—when you got tired of roaming (and I suppose even the most confirmed vagabond has such moments), why—I'd be waiting, and—and glad to see you."

She could no longer control the tremble in her voice, and the sound awakened Nick from the trance her words had brought upon him.

"So that's your problem?" he said quietly. "Well, my precious little wife, I'm relieved to hear that you'd be glad to see me! For just a moment I wondered if you were weary of your bargain. As for myself, Gay, I don't care for that long rope, if it's so long that I can't see you at the other end. I don't want my freedom without you to share it. I know I'm a kid in lots of ways, dear—too much of a kid to know how dearly I loved you, even a week ago. But I know now. That answers your problem, doesn't it?"

He would have kissed her, but she moved from him a space, and said, her voice still trembling: "Oh, Nick! you are always so sure. Are you never afraid of—Life?"

"No," Nick answered. He sat quite still, looking down on the moon-lit shadows in the valley. "No," he repeated. "Perhaps if I were a woman . . . still . . . my mother was not afraid. It was she who made me see life as I do. She was a poet, my mother. She didn't often put her poetic fancies into words; but the night she died . . ."

Again Nick seemed lost in thought; but as Gay's hand slipped into his he clasped it hungrily, and said: "I've never told this, Gay, even to Aunt Nettie, who knew all my secrets. My mother called me to her, because, though the doctors hadn't told her, she knew it was the end. I knew it, too, though I was only fourteen that day. Talk of being afraid of life! I was afraid then. The thought of losing my precious mother, and of living in my uncle's house without her to defend me, was pretty bleak. She knew that, and I suppose she wanted to give me something to hold onto."

Nick paused a moment, his eyes big and dreamy.

"I can see her now, lying there with her two beautiful braids falling over her shoulders. The window was open, and the breeze that blew across the lamp made little flickering shadows on the pillow. She was pale; but, boy as I was, I was conscious of an unearthly beauty in her face. She said (I have never forgotten one word), 'If I don't get better, sonny, there's something I want you to remember. Life won't be easy for you without me. Your uncle's a hard man, dear. He won't understand you, or help you to do the things you'll want to do. The next few years may not be happy years; but you must remember that life is a highway—a long, long highway that we must travel whether we will or no. If your life's like most lives, Nick, you'll find weary stretches of dusty road that seem to go on forever, and ever, and ever. But usually, when the way seems hardest, and your endurance is almost at an end, the road will lead into a cool woodland. You'll smell the ferns—you'll hear a brook rippling across the stones, and the song of a bird. Or, after a heartbreaking effort to keep your feet in the straight and narrow path that they must tread, son, if you're to know real happiness, you'll reach a hill-top, and see 'the earth and the fullness thereof' stretched out before you; and the sight will make everything worth while."

"And as you look back on your journey, Nick, you'll forget those weary, hot, interminable miles. You'll remember only the brooks, and the birds, and the grateful shade along the way. Those are the things that one remembers at the journey's end. Life is a highway, but you can make it a happy highway. Promise me that you will try."

Nick drew a quivering breath, as if the repeating of his mother's words brought back too vividly the night she spoke them. He clasped Gay's hand a little tighter, and cleared his throat.

"Perhaps most mothers wouldn't have talked that way to a boy like me; but she knew, you see, what I was up against. And the words sank in, Gay. As I grew older they became what she meant them to be—a refuge. I used to think of them when things seemed unfair to me, and they kept me from bitterness. I'd say: 'Don't you care, old man, after this long, hard pull those brooks and birds can't be far ahead,' and my waning courage would come back. The thought steadied me, as my mother's hand on mine had steadied me years before. They were all that she had to leave me—those words, Gay, but they have been a wonderful legacy."

There was a silence until Nick spoke again, turning a little to look into the girl's face.

"I thought, that morning a week ago when I locked the door and started on my journey, I thought then that the weary miles were over—that I'd reached some of the shade my mother promised. But I only thought it then, Gay. Now—now, dear comrade, I—know."

It was Gay's turn to draw a quivering breath which seemed to be echoed by the pines above them.

"Gay," said Nick quietly, "tell me you're not afraid to tramp the dusty highway with me."

And still Gay did not speak. She arose with a gesture that brought him to her side, and they stood together looking off at a scene of moonlit beauty that might, indeed, have been "the ends of the earth." And then she answered.

"No," she said, slowly, as if trying desperately to be honest, "no, dear, I'm not afraid. Oh, Nick!" she cried, and faced him, her eyes like stars. "Oh, Nick, life is so wonderful! Just now I'm not afraid of—anything!"

CHAPTER IV.

Gay did not know that she touched one of life's mountain-peaks when she spoke those words. Later she was to understand, and look back upon that hour as something precious. For life's big moments do not last. Their beauty perishes like the beauty of a rose, leaving only a fragrance and a memory.

Standing there in the moonlight with Nick's arm about her, Gay felt a sense of security and happiness that, in her ignorance of life, she thought must last forever. Nick loved her; and she was not afraid! Nothing would ever make her afraid again; yet four months later, when they stood together on another hillside, fear stared at her—not fear for herself and the big mystery before her, but fear that because of it Nick's coveted freedom was at an end.

It had been a glorious four months. Leaving the "rusty flivver" with Mr. Bartlett, they had gone forth on foot, because Gay wouldn't let Nick change his long-laid plans.

"That's right," the old man said at parting. "He'll be happier to do just what he set out to do; and there's the railroad to bring you back if either of you gets sick or caves in on the job. You got plenty o' money

Four Doses Relieved Bad Attack of Cholera

Mr. W. J. Cooper, Maughan, Alta., writes:—"A year ago last spring I arrived in Canada with my family, and one of my boys, aged six, was suffering very much with cholera. When we arrived I had a few hours to wait, and told one of the attendants at the station about it, and he asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. I had never heard of it in England, so he told me I could get it in Winnipeg. I am pleased to say I had only to give the child four doses and he got well and was quite cheerful by the next morning."

along, Nick? I ain't advisin' you to spend any more'n's necessary; but there's nothin' makes for comfort on a journey like a full pocketbook. If you need more'n you got I'll be glad to supply you till it's convenient to pay back."

"That's mighty kind of you," Nick answered, "but I think I've enough to see us through, thanks to my late uncle's not making the will in which he threatened to disinherit me! Thank you for housing the flivver for us, Mr. Bartlett. We'll call for it sometime during the next two years."

"All right sonny; but don't let that little lady get tuckered out. If she does, just ship her back to me and I'll be proud to look after her while you're gallivantin' round the world. Good-bye, ma'am. I'd be pleased to have you drop me a card from every port."

"I shan't forget to," Gay promised; then added, as something wistful in his eyes caught at her heart, "Will you kiss me good-bye in place of the father I can't remember?"

"That I will!" he replied heartily, "if you'll guarantee it won't make no hard feelin' betwixt Nick and me! Good-bye, children. Don't forget your Uncle Sim when you're off a-conquerin' the universe."

Nick grinned.

Little Helps For This Week

"Be ready to every good work."—Titus iii. 1.

Into thy charge hath He not given space,

All of thine own to make look green and sweet;

To be a haven unto troubled souls, To be a resting-place for weary feet?

Doth He require at thy hands aught but this,

To let thy garden show itself so fair,

That others seeing it shall straight-way go

'And till the portions given to their care?

And what is work? Is it only some task of hand or brain? Is it only accomplished when we see tangible evidences of our toil? Or is it, too the checking of a petulant or thoughtless word, the subduing of an unworthy desire, the rising above the subtle temptation that woos us to spiritual indolence, the striving to keep fresh and blooming the garden-plot God has given us all for our own, and where only by heart-work the fair flowers of "Love," "Joy," and "Peace," can be brought to bloom?

Old age is a long shadow lying in the cold evening sun, but it points towards the morning.

Well, why not be there? many of your neighbors are in just this fine position, this year, so start planning now, and be ready for it next fall.—Brooks Bulletin.

Cut In Canadian Cattle Charges at Liverpool

According to a Canadian Press despatch from London, the United Kingdom appears willing to co-operate in stimulating shipments of Canadian cattle to the British Isles.

Hon. H. H. Stevens, Canadian minister of trade and commerce, has been advised by the mayor of Birkenhead that the Port of Liverpool has made a reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. in the landing-charges on cattle, cutting them from three to two shillings per head.

The mayor further notified Hon. H. H. Stevens that Birkenhead had maintained unimpaired its facilities for dealing with large numbers of live animals, and marketing them.

The Canadian minister informed the mayor that the Canadian government would do all in all in its power to promote the cattle trade between the Dominion and the United Kingdom.

New Queen Salutes Former Sovereign

When the new Empress of Japan, latest pride of the Canadian Pacific steamships fleet and holder of three new trans-Pacific speed records, steamed into Vancouver harbor from the Far East recently she dipped her ensign in homage to the dragon-carved figurehead of the old Empress of Japan, queen of the Pacific from 1893 to 1922 during which she cruised a total of 2,500,000 miles in 58 round voyages from Vancouver and Victoria to Manila Bay. The gallant old ship, on which most of the senior officers of the new Empress of Japan, including Capt. Samuel Robinson, C.B.E., R.D., R.N.R., once served, was broken up and scrapped in Vancouver eight years ago, ending the career of a ship which made history on the Pacific. Public spirited efforts by the Vancouver Daily Province resulted in the figurehead (right) being preserved in Stanley Park, Vancouver, between Prospect Point and Brockton Light.
